Product Overview

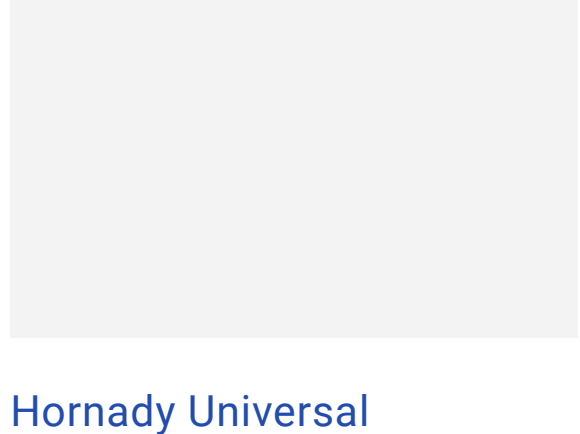

The Lee Precision Large Series Factory Crimp Die is designed to give reloaders the perfect crimp on each round of reloaded ammunition. The Factory Crimp Die crimps the bullet more firmly in place than any other die with more uniform pressure. The Factory Crimp Die features a collet that squeezes the case mouth into the crimping groove for a firm hold. It is nearly impossible to buckle the case when crimping when compared to a regular roll crimp die. Lee's testing has shown that using a Factory Crimp Die provides a more uniform pressure curve, increasing the accuracy of any bullet. Beefed up 1-1/4" x 12 tpi threads will work with the Lee Classic Cast Press. These dies feature the same quality and value that Lee die sets are known for, just in a larger version. Shellholder sold separately.

No. The threads are different, and I don't believe that the Rock Chucker has the requisite ram length

Works great

It crimps the case by pushing horizontally so there is no bulge as caused by crimpers where the case is pushed vertically into the smaller diameter die.

Factory crimp

I like using the lee factory crimp dies on all calibers I reload, both rifle and pistol rounds. I prefer this over trumpp crimp.

Lee products are the best!

I ordered a Lee die set for my 338 Lapua, unfortunately I needed a crimper die which was not included. I ordered this to finalize my loading regimen and it works great. I did have to order another single stage Lee cast reloader that has a removable insert to accommodate the larger threads on this die. Loading for a magazine fed rifle, I feel that it's a good idea to crimp the neck so I don't experience a bad day shooting. All of the Lee crimpers (I have 9mm, 45 auto, 45 colt, 41rem mag, 223rem, 6.5 creed, 308win, and now 338 lapua) will give you that factory type crimp that you are looking for without any case neck deformation. Truly a great product!

good dies

I use the Lee Factory Crimp die on most all of my rifle reloads. I know most people don't crimp rifle cartridges but I have found that it makes my reloads more consistent. I've tried both ways and I prefer to crimp a very light crimp on rifle cartridges helps hold the bullet in place and keep it centered.

Great crimper for 50 BMG

Have used this on many rounds of 50 BMG now and it works the same as their standard size factory crimp dies. It is a bit strange at 1 1/4" size die rather than 1 1/2" die. I had to buy a "Top of Press" bushing to reduce from 1 1/2"- 12 thread to 1 1/4"- 12 thread to use this die. No problems at all.
