No go for Duty

so I'm the quartermaster for our agency, and I purchase 2 pairs of these this year to try out. the purchase was made at Galls. we started wearing the boots in may. in September we noticed that the soles were detaching in some areas. I was going to try and get an exchange for the 2 pair, but I determined it wasn't worth the time to look up all the information Merrell wants to get 2 pairs of boots replaced. I'll go with a different brand going forward. Don't get me wrong, I love Merrell brand, but product quality and quality control can probably use some work.

Shoddy craftsmanship, dishonest warranty

Purchased through Amazon, fulfilled by Amazon. Package arrived and was to size and seemed fine. Less than 8 hours of use caused substantial separation on the right sole. Contacted Merrell for warranty and was told only fulfilled by Amazon orders were warranty eligible. Was offered a coupon for 30%. Attempted to explain order was purchased and fulfilled through Amazon, received a canned "sorry for your confusion" response and was offered a 40% coupon.

No, I do not recommend this product.

Great work boot

I use these for work and absolutely love them. I previously used the MOAB 2 tactical zip, but they did not have the wide toe option when I ordered them. The MOAB 3 with the wide toe is a much better option and very comfortable for long shifts. They are very lightweight for a water proof 8" boot, and look very nice. The initial break-in period took about a week, maybe 2. Other than slight rubbing at the top of the shank, I had no issues during the break-in.

BEST USES Trail, Casual/Everyday, Hiking, Other

Yes, I recommend this product.

New KICKS

Well, as with every other pair of Merrells I've owned, these come with "extreme comfort" right out of the box; no break-in required. My last pair, MOAB 2 tactical wp, is between 3 and 4 years old, and really the only reason for purchasing new is because the others wore a hole in the side. I still wear them to kick around in, just not when there's a danger of getting my feet wet

Would buy Merrell again!

These were actually purchased for my husband who works in EMS. He has stated that they are comfortable and provide good support for his ankles. Thanks Merrell!
